On Monday 18.02.2008, on the premises of company KOLEKTOR LIV d.o.o between the hours of 10am and 1pm the jury for the selection of received applications for the industrial design competition on push buttons for concealed cisterns LIV was in session.

The three-member jury, announced in the competition documentation, examined the received entries submitted by Friday 15.02.2008. Thirty-three entries were received at the address of the company KOLEKTOR LIV d.o.o within the prescribed time. Of these, five were received from abroad, the rest from within Slovenia. Within a number of entries, many individual solutions were present. All entries conformed to the formal competition conditions.

Based on the judging criteria announced in the competition committee, the jury eliminated, according to the first criterion – solution innovation, a number of received solutions in the first round of evaluations. More than half of the solutions represented already known industrial and user solutions. Among the received solutions, only ten remained that enabled evaluation according to all four criteria: solution innovation, technical feasibility, product practicability for users, and idea practicability for the product family (product modularity).

In the end, the jury, with the help of the evaluation chose three solutions. All of which gained the most points according to the evaluation criteria, and the most unanimity from all the members of the jury. All three announced prizes were awarded to these three solutions.

The official announcement of the winners and prize awarding will take place on Wednesday 5.3.2008 at 7pm on the premises of Epic centre in Postojna, Kazlje 10.
